"These seminars are a unique opportunity to learn the foundations of Shimamura Sensei's clinically effective constitutional approach to treatment, based on the teachings of Master Nagano. Attendees will learn diagnostic and treatment methods to regulate the body in a large range of disorders. A great chance to rapidly develop your diagnostics and treatment skills!"

Peter Scarselletti | Director of Qiology

In February/March 2019, Qiology has invited Tsuyoshi Shimamura to Sydney (Australia) and Auckland (New Zealand), for his unique Special Topics Seminars for: The Wisdom of Master Nagano Seminar Series 2019.

These Special Topics seminars will offer an opportunity to rapidly learn foundations of this clinically effective treatment style for instant application in clinic.

Over the last years, Tsuyoshi Shimamura has been covering his core curriculum in various cities in Australia, and has also offered a number of Special Topics Seminars to not only augment the skillsets that attendees of his curriculum seminars have gained, but also to allow all practitioners and students to attend to benefit from learning unique topics and special techniques, that do not require having to attend previous seminars, and allow rapid learning of theory and techniques that can be utilised for outstanding results in the clinic instantly.

2019 will include Shimamura Sensei's first visit to NZ on request of NZ practitioners and students. All seminars will be delivered in Japanese and will be interpreted by Seishiro Hokazono, in his dynamic and energetic style.

The Special Topics Seminars covered by Shimamura in 2019:

Palpation Diagnostics & Order of Treatment in Clinically Effective Japanese Acupuncture

Sydney (Australia): Mon 25th - Tues 26th February 2019

Auckland (NZ): Fri 1st - Sat 2nd March 2019

Hands-on: 50% | Lecture & Demonstration: 50%
No prerequisites required

This is an essential seminar for improving your clinical results using clinically effective Japanese Acupuncture diagnostics and treatment techniques.

Shimamura Sensei will teach and demonstrate a variety of diagnostics, acupuncture techniques & patient recommendations specific to the methods learned during his apprenticeship with the late Master Nagano, and 20+ years of clinical experience.

Hands-on, Lecture and demonstration will focus on treating constitutionally, as well as specific focus areas and peculiar treatment methods based on a variety of presenting conditions.

Topics to be covered include

Constitutional Treatment:

- The importance of correct constitutional treatment through correct diagnosis in order to achieve outstanding clinical results in all patients.
- Model of the "Tree of Life": Shimamura Sensei will explain his acupuncture theoretical model to frame his clinical experience and explain constitutional treatment principles.
- Using palpation techniques to accurately diagnose, to inform constitutional treatment.
- How to apply Stomach Qi treatment and Kidney treatment based on the constitutional presentation of patients.
- Treating the Diaphragm: A Master Balancing Method for the body- Diagnosis + Treatment of this poorly understood but vitally important area of the body.
- Demonstration of how to apply Specific Stomach Qi treatment: St Qi Line + CV 12 (Needling + Manual Technique).
- Order of treatment: Stomach Qi > Kidney Qi > Liver Blood > Water
- Central Theme: Strengthen the Foundational Qi, Prenatal Qi and Postnatal Qi.

Condition Specific Treatment:

- Which treatment principles/approaches and point selections may be used for specific health issues and their differing presentations.
- Unique Point combinations from Master Nagano's clinical experience.
- Immune Essentials- Unique treatment methodologies and point selections.
- Balancing the Autonomic Nervous System
- Special Focus Areas of Sydney Seminar: Conditions/Injuries relating to Motor Vehicle Accidents, Sports Injuries, falls, impact injuries and trauma.
- Special Focus Areas of Auckland Seminar: Insomnia, Anxiety, Menopausal Mood Disorders, Psycho-emotional Disorders

Other Techniques:

- Diagnostic and needling techniques that are quick to learn and easy to implement instantly in clinic.
- Acupuncture Techniques of contact needling and insertion techniques.
- Application of Moxa
- Palpation: Abdomen, Legs & more
- Tongue diagnosis

Attendees will be given the unique opportunity of learning foundations of treatment and diagnostic methods, and importantly the order of how Shimamura Sensei treats a large variety of conditions, which is seldom taught in Acupuncture today.

This seminar is restricted to Acupuncture Practitioners and Students

Japanese Structural Balancing Therapy:

Regulating the Muscles, Tendons & Fascia with Manual Techniques

Auckland (NZ): Sun 3rd March 2019

Hands-on: 70% | Lecture & Demonstration: 30%

No prerequisites required

In Oriental Medicine, it is not only understood that structure effects the function of the body and its organs or systems, but also that impaired function of certain systems or organs of the body effects the structure and the dynamic movement of the body. This explains why issues in structure or function can affect the other. However, structural imbalances can also be the simple cause of pain and discomfort anywhere in the body.

To effectively balance the body, we must include structural balancing into our treatments, and we must also know how to diagnose restrictions and imbalances in the structure, and how these restrictions affect the body and its systems as a whole. It is not commonly taught in Acupuncture schools today how to balance the structure of the body through simple remedial methods, and this is why Tsuyoshi Shimamura considers this to be an essential seminar for improving your clinical results using Japanese Structural Balancing methods that focus on regulating tension in Muscles, Tendons and Fascia and their connection to the skeletal system and other body systems.

This one day seminar will use a variety of Hands-on practical experience, Lecture and Demonstration to effectively teach the foundations of Japanese Structural Balancing Therapy which includes diagnostic assessment and treatment of Structural Imbalances.

Topics to be covered include

- The archetype of the free-moving healthy body structure
- Assessment of imbalances in the body structure, and how to include this into one's total diagnosis and treatment.
- Training the hands to determine the status of the body based on muscular tone and joint position
- Root & Branch Treatment, Prenatal Qi & Postnatal Qi treatment through Manual Techniques
- Balancing the structures of the body with manual techniques that encompass:
Upper Body: Neck, shoulders, upper back, scapulae, ribs, arms, elbows, hands, and fingers
Lower Body: SI joint, lower back, hips, legs, knees, ankles, feet and toes
- Usage of the Wooden Da Shin: Foundation methods of application, and when to apply it clinically.
- Basic remedial exercises to prescribe patients to improve mobility and Qi flow in major areas of the body

This seminar is open to Acupuncturists, Physiotherapists, Chiropractors, Osteopaths, Massage Therapists, GP's, etc.

Who was Master Nagano?

In post-war Japan, Master Acupuncturist Kiyoshi Nagano began a remarkable and fruitful investigation. Despite being blind, Nagano memorized Chinese classical literature and developed a unique and ingenious theoretical and clinical approach that incorporated classical concepts and emergent insights from Western medicine.

His ideas and methods did not follow an established group, which brought a certain stigma in Japanese acupuncture circles. Being mentally robust, he was proud of his 'lone wolf' status.

Over the next half a century - using his extraordinary palpation and pulse diagnosis skills as a guide - he crafted ingenious acupuncture strategies for all types of conditions.

He also became a mentor to two of the most important Japanese acupuncture teachers of our time: Master Acupuncturist Kiiko Matsumoto and Tsuyoshi Shimamura.

Master Nagano passed away in 2003.

Master Nagano

Master Nagano & Tsuyoshi Shimamura

"Please remember to go back to "Stomach Qi", when you find yourself confused and troubled. One should go back to Stomach Qi to create the beautiful acupuncture treatment, like a flowing river. This is an ideal treatment that Master Nagano taught me. "

Tsuyoshi Shimamura

Tsuyoshi Shimamura, L.Ac. (Japan)

Tsuyoshi Shimamura obtained licensure as an Acupuncturist and Moxibustionist in Japan in 1995 after completing studies at Meiji Acupuncture and Moxibustion College. Shimamura was fortunate to undertake a live-in apprenticeship with Master Nagano during the final years of Master Nagano's life, living and working with Master Nagano between 1997 and 2000 as his closest apprentice.

Shimamura not only inherited a vast amount of Nagano's teachings, techniques, and theories but also gained an important insight into his character. Tsuyoshi Shimamura is a member of the Japan Acupuncturist Association, and has also published articles and DVDs for Ido-No-Nippon. Since 2006, Shimamura has been teaching seminars on the Acupuncture and diagnostic methods he learned during his time with Master Nagano. Shimamura has also taught a variety of hands-on manual techniques to Shiatsu practitioners, physical therapists, Bone-Setters and cosmetic therapists in Japan.

Mr. Shimamura currently develops what he has learned with Master Nagano personally during their time together, and what he has learned from Master Acupuncturist Kiiko Matsumoto, as in his heart there is no replacement for their teachings, and as a result Mr. Shimamura focuses only on teaching openly and passionately to his students, that which he learned directly from Master Nagano and Kiiko Matsumoto, the most inspirational influences in Shimamura's life.

In recent years, Shimamura has impressed international students with his clarity and depth of understanding, his mindful presence, and his commitment to sharing Master Nagano's legacy. Tsuyoshi Shimamura runs clinics in Hiroshima and Ooita, Japan, and holds a 1st Degree Black-Belt in Judo.

Seishiro Hokazono L.Ac. - Interpreter

Born and raised in Japan, and now a citizen of the US, Seishiro graduated from the Southwest Acupuncture College in Santa Fe, New Mexico, and undertook further studies in Meridian-style Acupuncture and Moxibustion with Aizawa Sensei in Tokyo, Japan from 2006-2007. Seishiro then studied modified KSA and Integrated Synergy Therapeutics under Nakano Sensei in 2008 in Las Cruces, New Mexico. From 2008 onwards Seishiro developed very sound knowledge and skills in Kiiko Style Acupuncture.

Due to his exceptional linguistic skills in Japanese and English and experience with interpreting specific to acupuncture, Seishiro has been selected by Qiology as interpreter to Mr. Shimamura, to assist English speaking students in learning Master Nagano's Acupuncture techniques, diagnosis and theory through Mr. Shimamura. Seishiro is in full-time practice in Albany, Oregon, and also holds a 1st Degree Black-Belt in Judo.

"Te A Te Hari" - 手あてはり

"Pour passion and heart into your hands." This unforgettable command is what Master Nagano told me as I started my three-year apprenticeship with him. I always wonder if I am properly executing his command as I needle myself every morning. One of Master Nagano's patients told me: "Just having a touch of Sensei's hands makes me feel better. His hands remind me of my mother." I still remember his warm hands when I first received his handshake. I cannot do the same acupuncture treatment like Master Nagano. But, I feel the calling to pass his command to other fellow colleagues. I would like to bring in the passion as I diagnose patients with my hands. I pour my heart into every needle to help alleviate the suffering. If I can transmit this message via how I show my treatment style through seminars, I feel comfortable naming my style: Te A Te Hari. Te A Te means "laying a hand", "treatment", and "appropriate preparation or allowance". Hari = Needle. I believe that actual treatment can start by touching a patient. Thus, having a healing hand is very important to any practitioners. Please join me in a conversation of realizing my master's words.
